
1.0 Home Page

This is what the user would see when they first visit the web site of Share Economy, Inc. The main functionalities of this home page from top to bottom starts off with a sign in/register option.

Then to the left is the map marker where the user may change their location that will help with sorting the servives available. Next is the search bar that will help the user narrow their search. To the right of that is the shopping cart, which will be filled up whenever the user adds a service to their cart. Below the company's name is a menu bar: Home, Get Services, Offer to the community, and Saved. This will remain as a global navigation bar for the users so they won't have to back out all the time to get to a different page.

Below all the functions are the information. The left would explain how to get a service and to the right will be information on how to offer a service and benefits of it. In the middle would show the type of services that are available with ratings below.

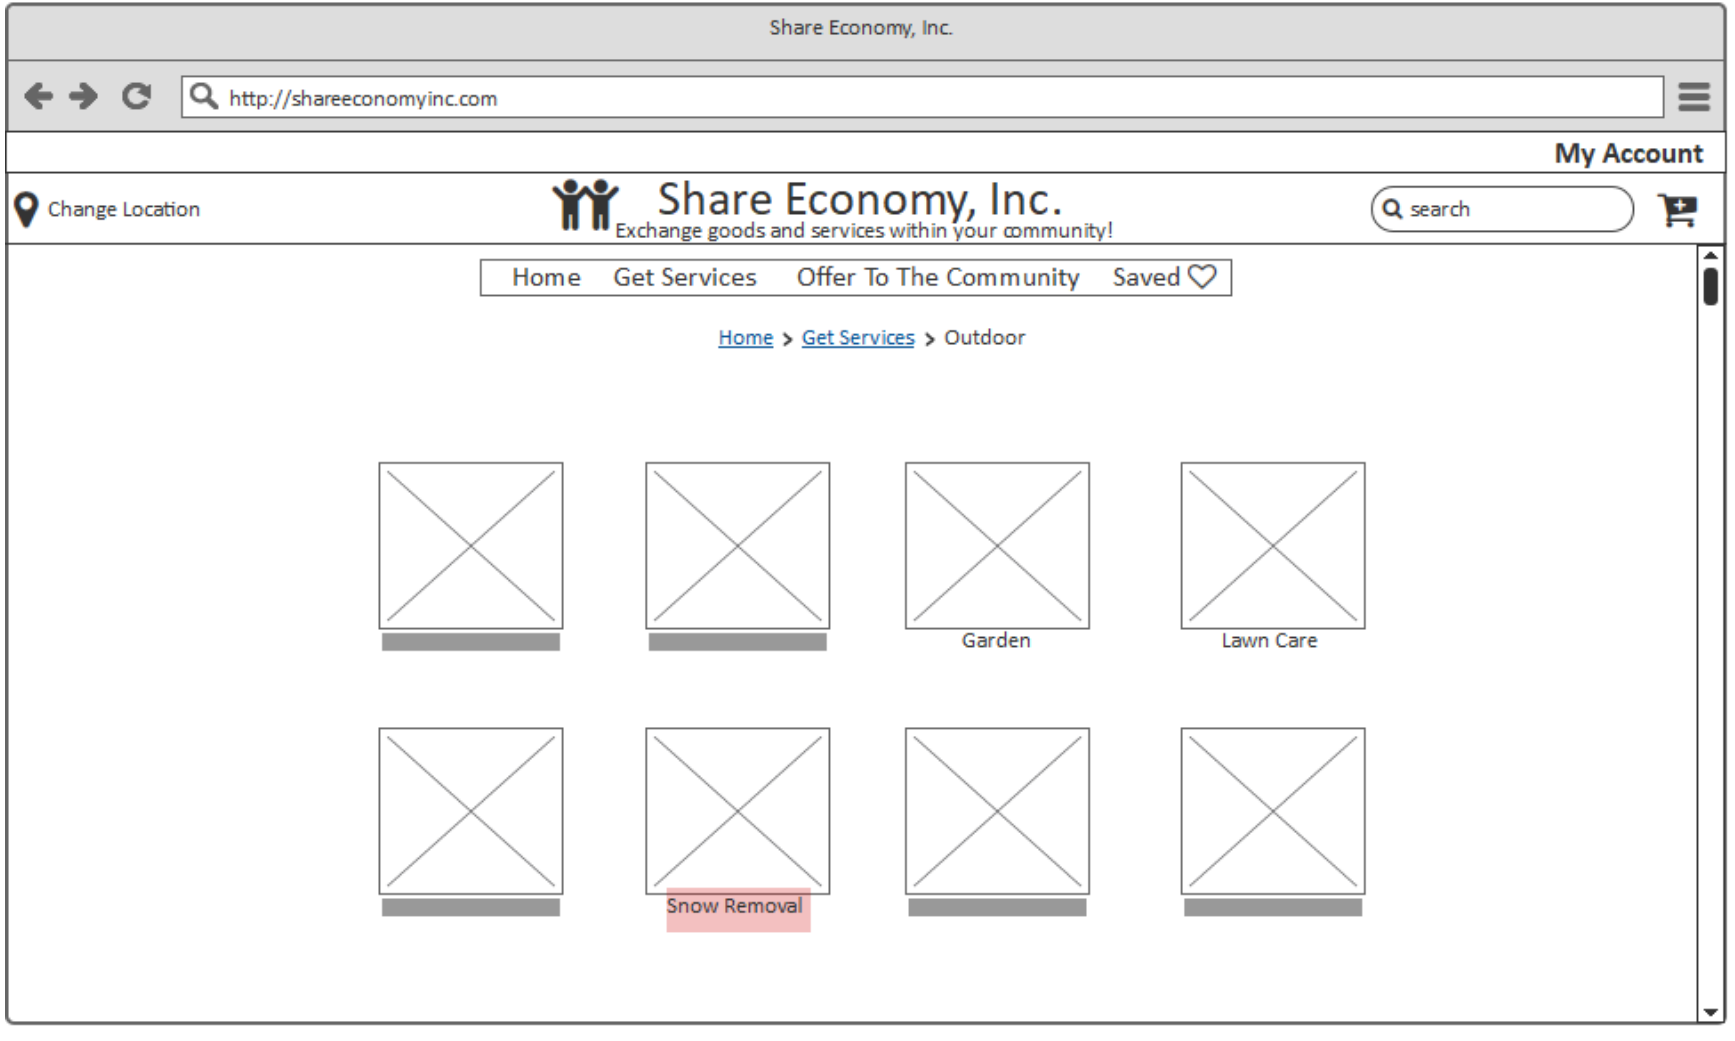
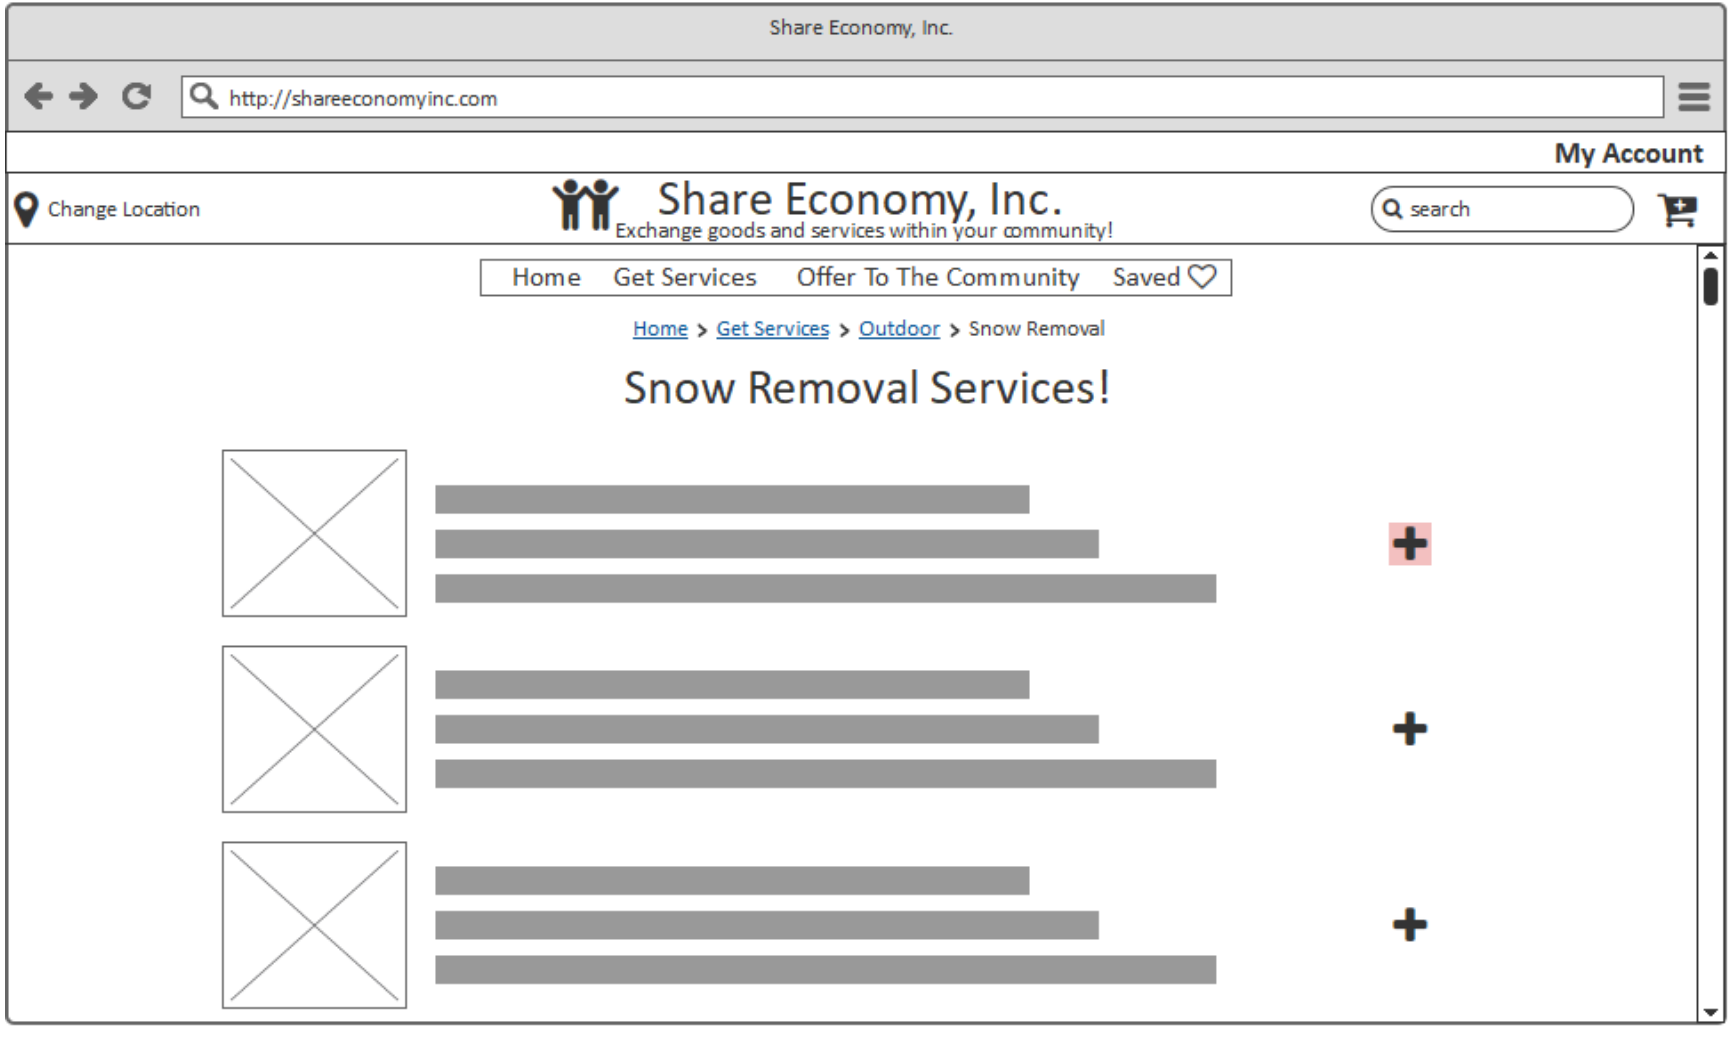
3.0 Get services drop down

This page shows the available services available.



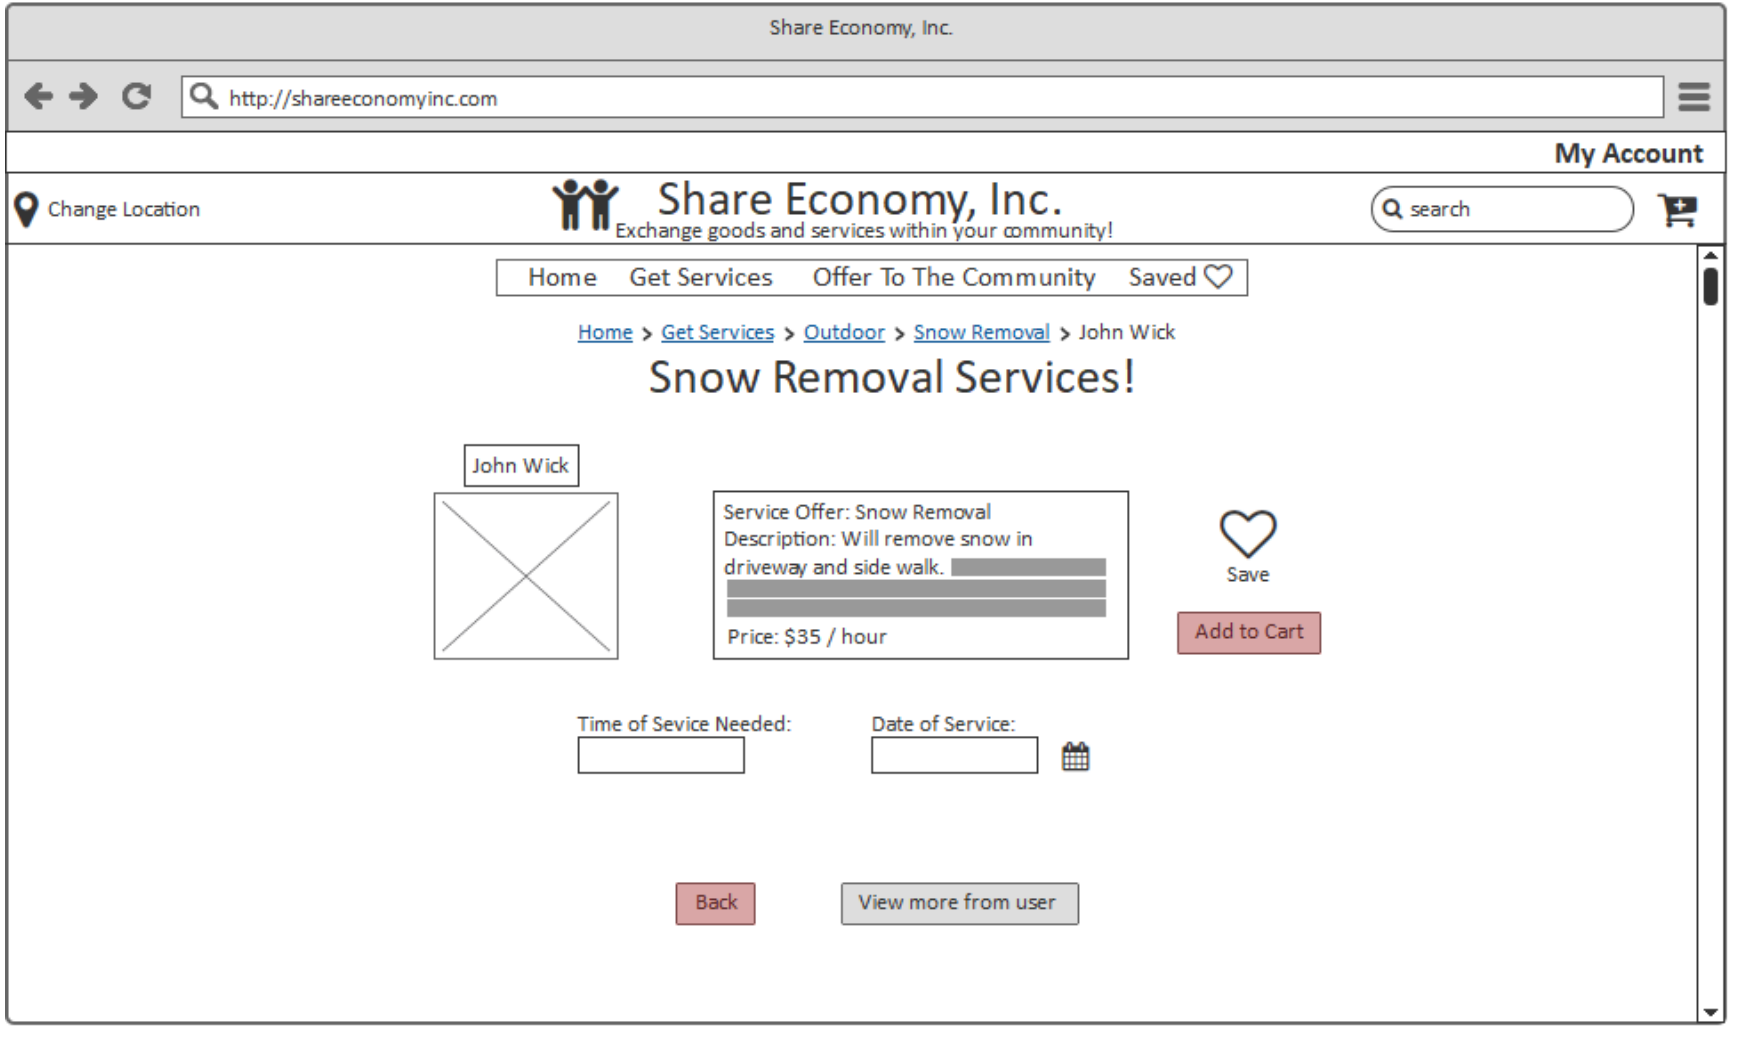
4.0 Get services Page

Here, the user would be able to click on the image of the outdoor maintenance they'd like. At the top, there is also a breadcrumb, showing the user the previous pages they visited.



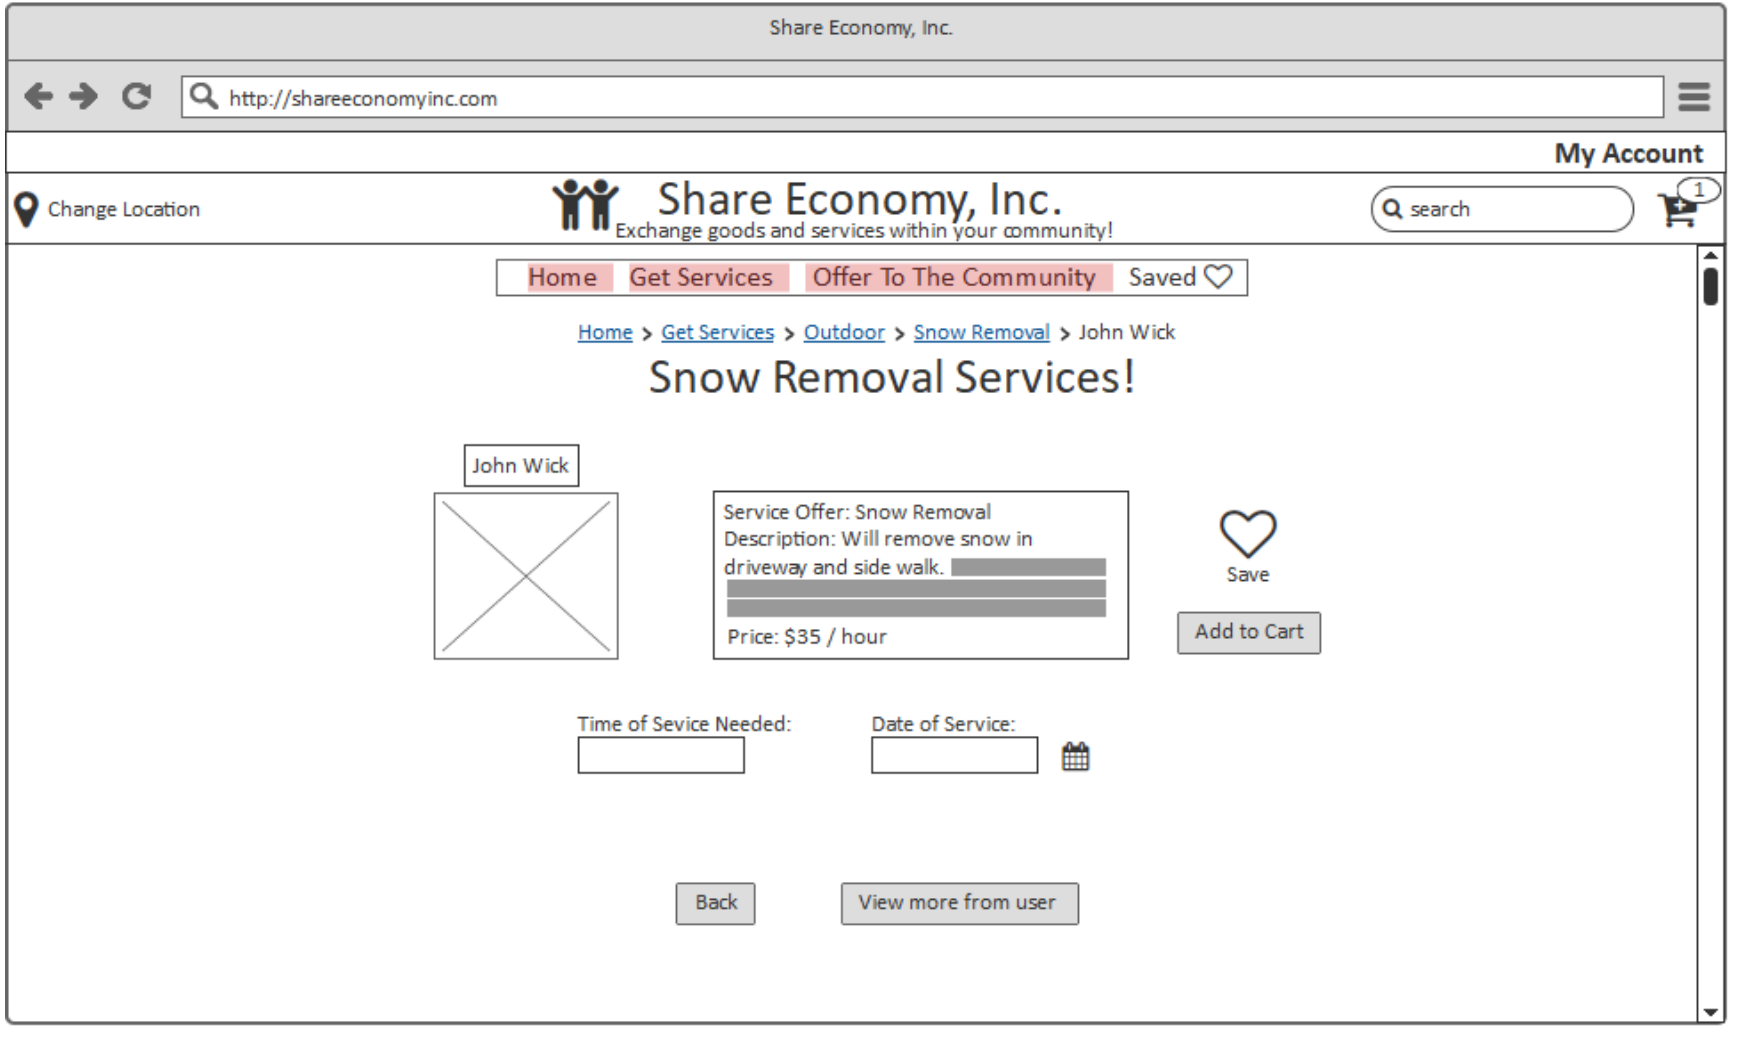
4.1 Snow Removal Page

On this page, the user would see the available services with their descriptions. The "+" sign functions as revealing more information on the next page.



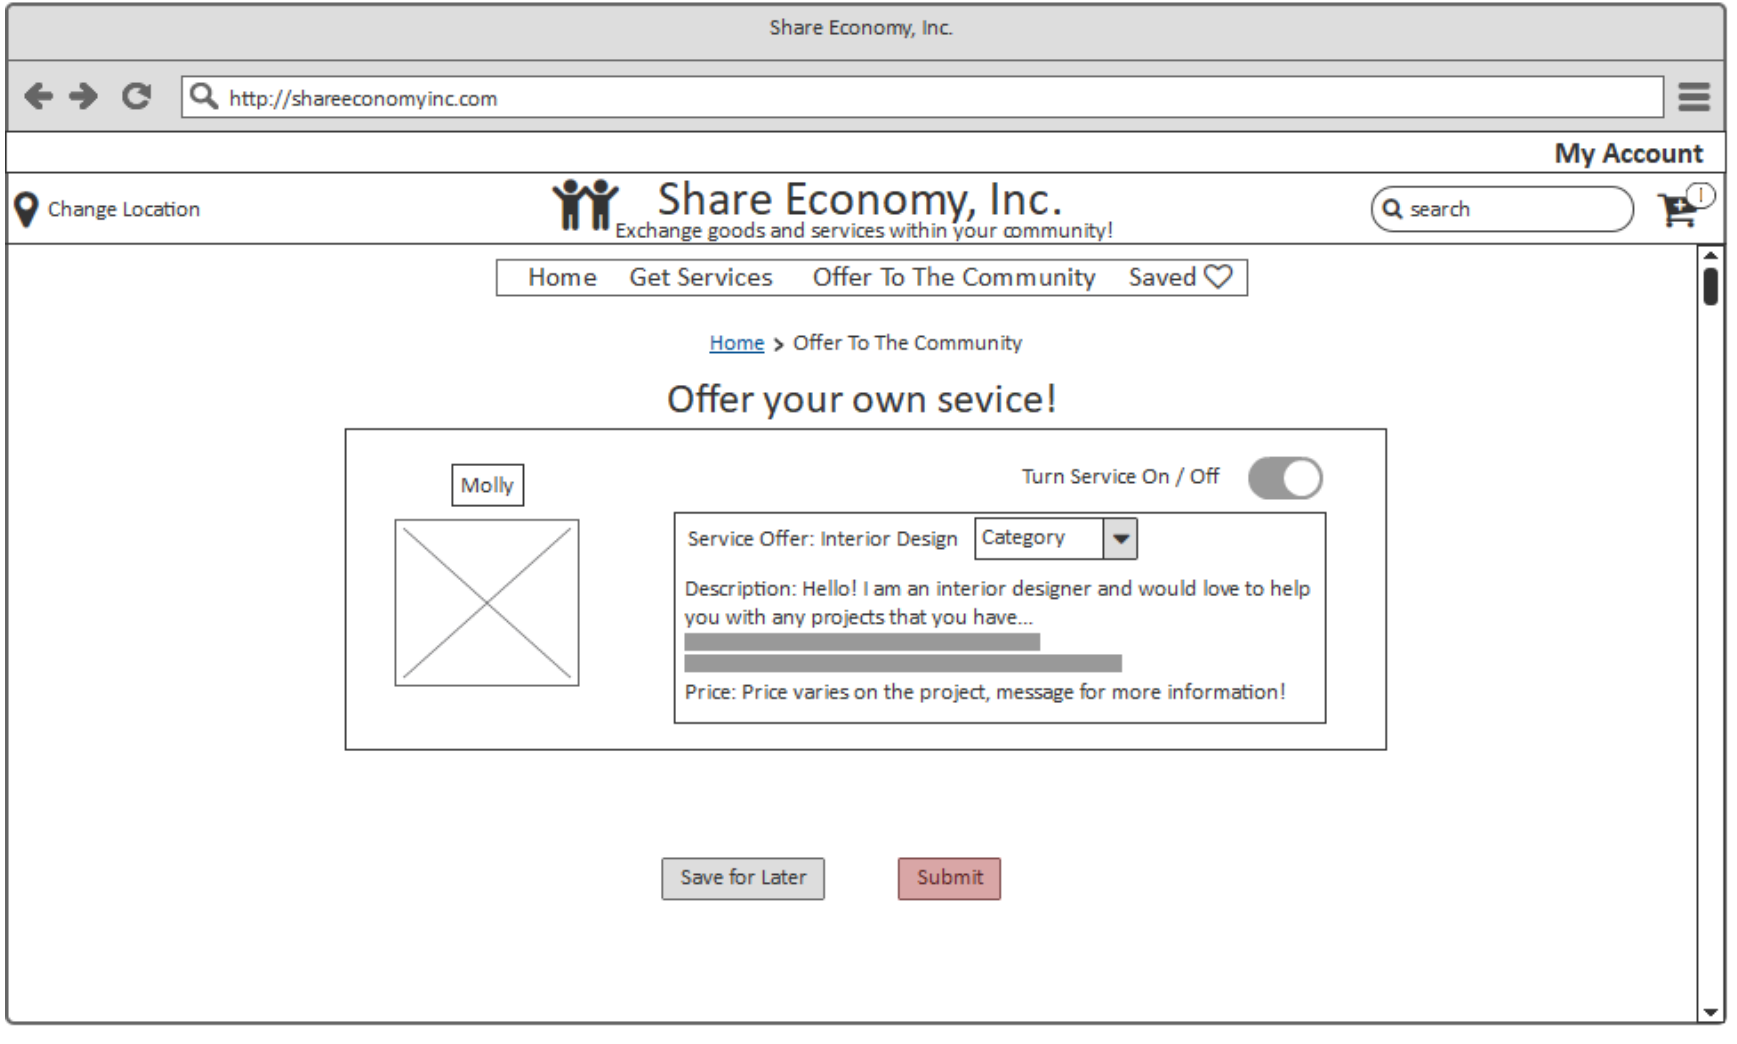
4.2 Snow Removal Page

Here, the breadcrumb continues to track the user's actions. You see that the service selected has the user's account handle on top of their image. To the right, shows the type of service and description. Under that will display the price for the service. To the right is the option to save the service or add to cart. At the bottom of the description, the user will be able to enter the time and date of service needed then can add that to the cart.



4.2.1 added to cart

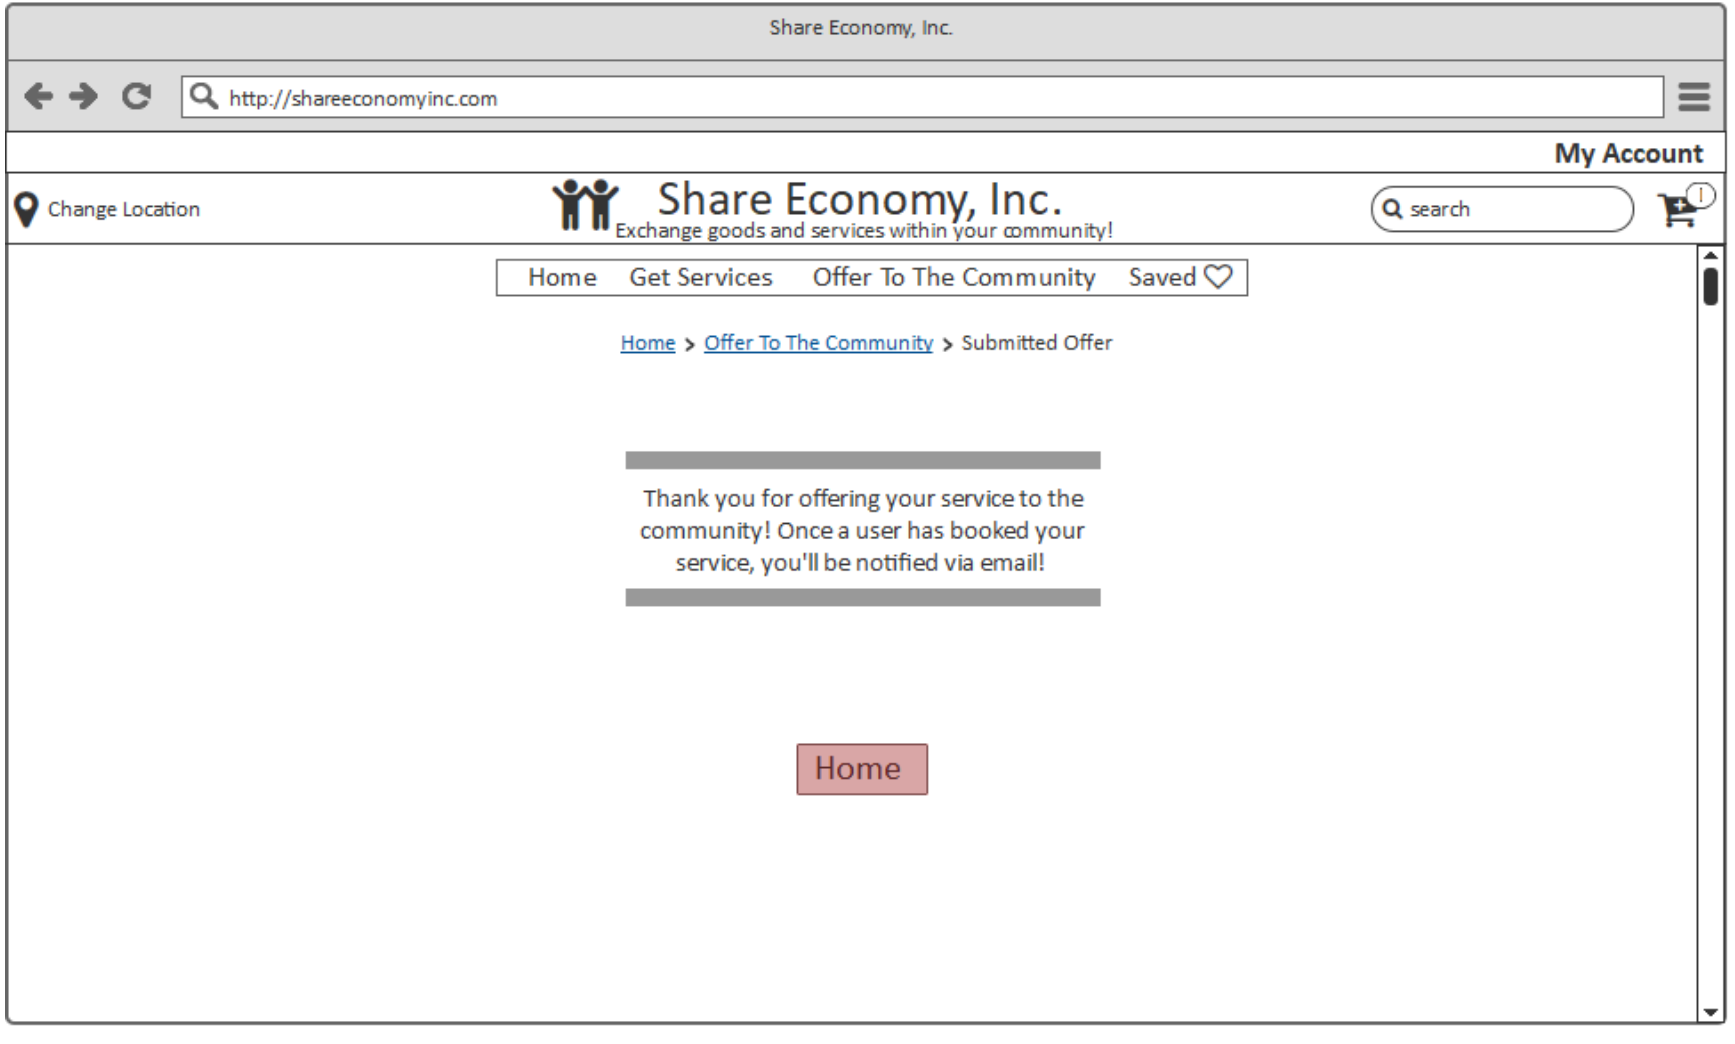
Here just simply shows the item added to the cart.



5.0 Offer to Community

Here, the layout is the same when the user would find other services. Our persona would enter their service offer, select a category that's closest to their offer, fill in their description, price, then save for late or submit.

On the stop right of the box, there is also a swtich button. The user can turn their service on or off due to their availability.



6.0 Submitted Offer
